

ATS Corporation Chief Financial Officer, Pamela Little, Receives SmartCFO Award

MCLEAN, VA —April 26, 2010, ATS Corporation (“ATSC” or the “Company”) (NYSE Amex: ATSC), a leading information technology company that delivers innovative technology solutions to government and commercial organizations, today announced that its Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Pamela Little, received the 2010 SmartCFO Award. Recognizing outstanding leaders in the Greater Washington region whose CFO role was essential to their company’s success, SmartCFO is awarded annually by SmartCEO magazine.

Ms. Little joined ATSC in 2007 and led the transition of the organization from a private organization to a publicly-traded company which included establishing the infrastructure to meet public company regulatory and compliance requirements. She was simultaneously spearheading the transaction process and integration of four businesses – all acquired in the same year. Since that time she has led the efforts to significantly improve the Company’s profitability and cash management, as well as increase the visibility and attractiveness of the Company’s capital structure by reducing debt and achieving a listing on the New York Stock Exchange AMEX.

“Pamela’s outstanding leadership as a CFO makes this a well deserved award,” said ATSC Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Dr. Edward H. Bersoff. “She has played an extremely critical role in contributing to the Company’s success and growth since she joined us three years ago. During this tenure she has clearly demonstrated her ability to thrive in a challenging environment to meet meticulous financial standards, provide reliable insight on both financial operations and corporate strategy to the board, senior management and the financial community, and manage profits and cash flow even in difficult economic times.”
